

Use Case: Screen Time Advisory

The user tries to start setting up their third consecutive game. A brief and friendly message appears, telling the user that while Can't Stop is a great game, too much screen time can be a bad thing. The user has the option to dismiss the message and continue playing, or to take a break. The system will repeat this message after every third consecutive game.